

TALENTED TRAINING LTD CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Corporate social responsibility (CSR) is a term used to describe when businesses look beyond their initial duty to their staff and customers (or learners in the case of an independent training provider), and acknowledge that their actions have a wider impact. Undertaking a programme of CSR activities encourages businesses to operate in more sustainable, ethical and charitable ways.

Talented Training Ltd's learners, staff and governors take social responsibilities very seriously and see this as an essential part of our business. As a further education provider and employer, we have a major role to play in the social and economic welfare within Leeds and the wider region, and an ethical responsibility to our planet.

Learners are encouraged to consider their own social responsibility through tutorial sessions which covers British Values and links to the organisation's Mission and Values. We encourage our learners to be healthy, stay safe, enjoy and achieve, and make a positive contribution and economic well-being.

Talented Training Ltd is committed to working positively to expand, develop and evaluate our sustainability programme to make sure that it contributes to the efficiency of the organisation. We believe in educating staff as well as learners about sustainable issues to help encourage a behavioural change. We encourage all staff and learners to recycle waste.

Talented Training Ltd works closely with businesses in the local community in a variety of ways, an example of which is ensuring our training directly meet needs of the region's employers and maximises the employability of our learners.
